WHERE DOCTORS FAILED TO HELP

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Mrs. Green's Health—Her Own Statement.

Covington, Mo.—"Your medicine has done me more good than all the doctor's medicines. At every monthly period I had to stay in bed four days because of hemorrhages, and my back was so weak I could hardly walk. I have been taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and now I can stay up and do my work. I think it is the best medicine on earth for women."

How Mrs. Cline Avoided Operation.
Brownsville, Ind.—"I can say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done me more good than anything else. One doctor said I must be operated upon for a serious female trouble and that nothing could help me but an operation."
"I had hemorrhages and at times could not get any medicine to stop them. I got in such a weak condition that I would have died if I had not got relief soon."
"Several women who had taken your Compound, told me to try it and I did and found it to be the right medicine to build up the system and overcome female troubles."
"I am now in great deal better health than I ever expected to be, so I think I ought to thank you for it."—Mrs. O. M. CLINE, S. Main St., Brownsville, Ind.

NEW MAN THEORY

Skeleton Shows Human Race is Older Than Believed.

Age Over 100,000 Years—Being Much More Like the Modern Briton Than the Neanderthal Type.

London.—English scientists are taking great interest in the discovery of a skeleton beneath an undisturbed layer of bowlders and clay in East Anglia, now Norfolk and Suffolk. If the evidence is good, this skeleton must be that of a man who belonged to a race that lived in that district before the most severe of the various ice movements of the glacial period.

A singular feature of the discovery is that, in most respects, the skeleton resembles that of the modern Englishman and is not of the more simian type to which the Neanderthal man, though a much later phenomenon, belongs.

There now seems to be a growing body of evidence that the modern type of man was evolved at an extremely early date before the beginning of the glacial period, but that, for thousands of years afterwards the primitive, or Neanderthal, type continued to flourish in Europe.

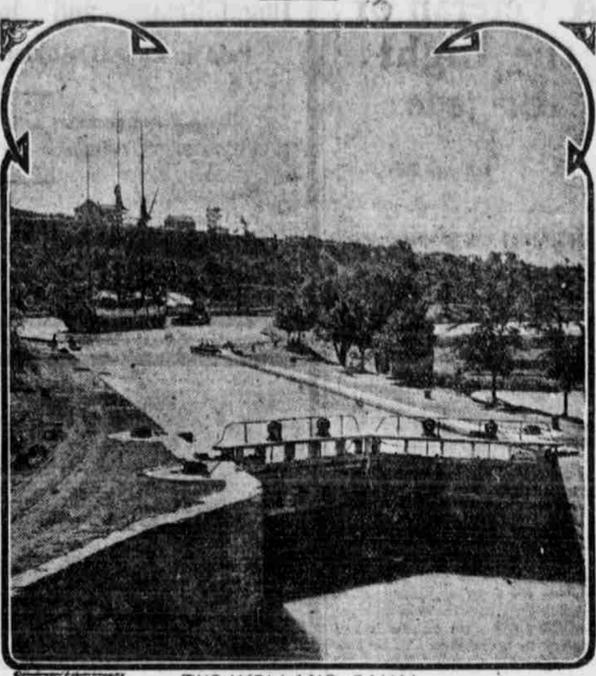

Until this find the Neanderthal man was regarded as the oldest in Europe, and one of the scientific commentators says:

"Some people were hasty enough to discern in these Neanderthal men, with their monkeylike qualities, evidence of the missing link. It is now clear that they were survivors of a stock which had deteriorated, and not progenitors of our race. If we have to accept the theory of evolution—and it is still only a theory—it is a puzzling fact that man has changed so little in 100,000 years."

On this point Prof. Keith, anthropologist at the museum of the Royal College of Surgeons, says of the latest discovery:

"There is every evidence that this man lived long before the glacial period. During this period England was covered with a great thickness of ice.

CANADA'S GREATEST ENTERPRISE.

THE WELLAND CANAL

CANADIANS will spend $30,000,000 on the new Welland ship canal connecting Lake Erie and Lake Ontario. This is the largest enterprise in Canada since the transcontinental railroad was inaugurated. When the canal is enlarged it will have a depth of 22 feet, against 14 feet at present, and will enable the Canadians to meet the competition of the new Erie canal. When the Welland canal is deepened the rest of the St. Lawrence system to Montreal will be deepened at a cost of $75,000,000 to $100,000,000.

Finally this melted and a layer of debris was deposited. It was underneath a deposit of this sort that the skeleton was found. Hence he must have lived before the ice age and before the rivers formed.

"The finding of this skeleton strengthens the belief that the evolution of man was an infinitely longer process than we originally thought. At one time believers in the evolution theory thought that man's development to his present state might have taken something like 10,000 years. Later they put the period at something around 20,000 years. The difference, if any, between this man's bodily framework and modern man's is so minute as to prove that the evolution must have taken hundreds of thousands of years.

"This discovery shows that England was inhabited as early as if not earlier than any continental country."

STOLYPIN IS LAUDED

Agrarian Reforms Have Brought Peace to Peasants.

Millions Now Possess Farms—Socialistic and Revolutionary Agitators Vainly Appeal to These Contented Yeomen.

St. Petersburg.—Agrarian reform begins to bear good fruit, a correspondent writes. It was the greatest work of Peter A. Stolypin, premier of Russia, whom Dmitri Bogroff assassinated in the czar's very presence at a gala performance in the Municipal theater at Kiev last September.

"While quelling a bloody revolution Stolypin brought about a peaceful one," say those today who were the premier's bitterest enemies.

His great plan of letting the peasants hold land in perpetuity, which Stolypin inaugurated in 1906, has given land of their own to 32,000,000 peasants; they possess 3,000,000 square miles in European Russia and 7,500,000 square miles in Siberia. And the face of the land has been changed. The peasant now lives on his property instead of miles away, as under the old communal system, when all the land was redistributed every three years.

Besides, the owner works intensively now, for he takes pride in his land.

Here again Stolypin's far-seeing brain came into play. He planned that milk should be a speculator in the world's grain trade. He opened hundreds of farming schools and hundreds more are being founded. Besides, Stolypin arranged that money should be advanced to the peasant farmer at low rate of interest, 4 1/2 per cent.—something unknown here hitherto. The imperial bank builds granaries and keeps the peasant informed on grain prices by posting official quotations several times a week in railroad stations, inns and markets. Co-operative stores have been opened in the markets; the peasants can buy agricultural machines on easy terms; mechanical experts give instruction gratis to farmers who desire it.

The results are as obvious as beneficent. A sturdy, hardworking yeoman class is slowly but surely growing in Russia; this in six years, and the plan will not be worked out completely for several years more. The fact is becoming clearer and clearer that agrarian reform has done more to calm Russia than all the repressive dictates from the city. Socialistic and revolutionary agitators have no success where the mujik owns his land, because it is all he really cares for in this life and once he has it he will run no risks.

A tremendous outcry against Stolypin arose when he set this work on foot; all political parties ridiculed and abused it. He never could have carried it out had he not interested the dowager empress in it.

COW BREAKS BUTTER MARK

New Champion, Clothide II., Produces 1,277 Pounds in Year From 25,000 Pounds of Milk.

Newton, N. J.—The world's record for butter production in a single year, held so long by Colanitia, a Wisconsin Holstein cow, has been broken by Clothide II., an eastern cow of the same breed. The new champion has just completed her year's test, and, according to the official figures, produced in 365 days, 1,277 pounds of butter from 25,000 pounds of milk.

It takes an exceptionally good cow to make 105 pounds of butter in a month, even in full flow, but here is a cow that has averaged that amount for twelve months in succession.

Used Piano for Bed.
Philadelphia.—Ralph Bechtel, an old time actor, known on the stage as Jack Meyers, was found dead in bed. The gas jet was turned on, but all indications point to an accidental death. Bechtel was employed as a scene painter. Bechtel, like many old-time actors, had peculiarities. While there was a brass bed in the house he preferred to sleep on top of the piano in his parlor. Under his pillow was a sword used by him the first time he appeared on the stage.

COURT DECIDES ODD CASE

High British Tribunal Declares Men Who Carved Initials in Whale Can't Be Punished.

London.—The divisional appeal court has decided that it is not legal cruelty to stab or carve your initials on a living whale, as long as the animal is not kept in captivity. Last July a number of whales were stranded on the Cornish coast near Penzance, and the villagers commenced chopping them up, while sightseers even carved their initials on the distressed animals' sides.

The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to animals prosecuted one of the initial carvers for cruelty, but the local magistrate held that as the whales were not in captivity the offense did not come within the law.

On appeal the society tried to prove that as the whales were surrounded by people and could not get away till the tide turned they were in a state of captivity, but Justice Pickford, while admitting that initial carving on stranded whales was a form of amusement that ought to be punished, decided that the term "captivity" did not apply, and dismissed the appeal.

Claims Fortune In America

Welsh Railroad Man Confident of Proving Title to Part of New York City.

London.—Thomas Williams, a retired railroad man, who lives in a cottage at Caersws, a Welsh village, tells me that he is confident of proving his right to a fortune in America of $275,000,000.

He bases his claim on his belief that he is the nearest surviving male relative of Edward Edwards, a Welshman, who emigrated in the 18th century and amassed an enormous fortune, but died intestate. Edwards was a native of Llanymynech, near Oswestry, and removed to Silverdale, where he married. His wife's behavior caused him to emigrate to New York state, where he acquired cheaply the marshy land on which part of New York city now stands.

When the British government recognized American independence Edwards leased his land to the United States government, but the lease expired in 1880.

Edwards also acquired collieries at Edwardsville (named after him). Williams told me that he was sixty-four years of age, had worked on five railways including the Northwestern, the Great Central and Brecon, Merthyr & Cambrian. He saved money, but lost some in the Liberator frauds and more recently in a London bank failure. He has engaged a first-class lawyer in America and is himself collecting data here. He showed me papers which seem to have a strong bearing on his claim.

HIGH COST HITS GOTHAM ZOO

Eggs Are No Longer Fed to New York Monkeys—Little Milk Is Given Animals.

New York.—The latest complaint over the high cost of living comes from the Central park menagerie, where it appears that the monkeys, lions and hippos are leading the simple life owing to the taking of expensive luxuries from their bill of fare. The monkeys have not seen an egg in two months. They used to get one apiece every day before breakfast, but it would be like offering them pearls now to feed them eggs, according to Overseer Keenan. The only luxury they have is milk, and that with plenty of water in it, for the supply is only five quarts a day, and there are 60 monkeys to drink it.

"Ten years ago," explained Mr. Keenan, "we could board a monkey for seven cents a day and a hippo or elephant for 60 cents. Now it costs 12 cents for the monkeys, $1 for the hippos and $2.75 a day for the elephants."

"The big item in the menagerie bill, however, is the meat. The tigers and lions need from 12 to 18 pounds of meat a day and the cost runs close to 10 cents a pound. A decade ago the zoo was able to buy the necessary 250 pounds a day around 4 1/2 cents a pound."

DOCTORS FAILED RESTORED BY PERUNA.

Catarrh of the Lungs

Threatened Her Life
Miss Ninette Porter, Braintree, Vermont, writes: "I have been cured by Peruna."

"I had several hemorrhages of the lungs. The doctors did not help me much and would never have cured me. I saw a testimonial in a Peruna almanac of a case similar to mine, and I commenced using it."

"I was not able to wait on myself when I began using it. I gained very slowly at first, but I could see that it was helping me."

"After I had taken it a while I commenced to raise up a stringy, sticky substance from my lungs. This grew less and less in quantity as I continued the treatment."

"I grew more fleshy than I had been for a long time, and now I call myself well."
